

Ravensthorpe Wildflower Show and Spring Festival

Programme of Events
2018

Enid Tink, Keeper of the Show

Sabrina Hahn, Patron

Enid Tink

Enid Tink carries on the tradition of the Ravensthorpe Wildflower Show, which was begun by her father, Jim McCulloch MBE. Mr McCulloch founded the show in 1982 and previous to that collected local wildflowers each year which were sent to Kings Park for their annual show. Enid still gathers boxes of flowers for Kings Park.

Enid's knowledge of the local flora in the Shire of Ravensthorpe, is legendary and at Show time in September, she works morning till night picking, arranging, naming, watering, and cleaning the exhibits, often over 700 in number.

Enid is also Curator of the Ravensthorpe Museum.

The Ravensthorpe Wildflower Show is proud to have well-known horticulturist and ABC presenter, Sabrina Hahn as its Patron. She has been part of Ravensthorpe's Spring Festival for several years, giving talks, guiding walks and guest speaking at the Gala Event. Her ebullient personality and exceptional knowledge draw visitors to the district like honey-eaters to a bottlebrush.

Sabrina is a master gardener, horticultural professional, award winning radio presenter and writer, and has led numerous garden tours to Italy, France, Spain, England and Morocco. She also manages gardening projects with remote communities in the north of Western Australia.

Sadly Sabrina will not attend this years show as she is away in America.

Sabrina Hahn

Official Opening: On September 10th at 5.00pm, Ravensthorpe Hall Open to all, so please join us to celebrate the 36th Annual Wildflower Show! Sue McDougall of 882 6PR will open the show and Malcolm French will speak about his new book on Eucalypts. Light refreshments on offer.

Ravensthorpe Wildflower Show

The Ravensthorpe Wildflower Show is probably the biggest in the world! It has yet to be proved that any other wildflower show displays a greater number of different species in one place at one time. And yet, the 700+ specimens gathered in the Ravensthorpe Hall each year, still only represent a third of the plants in the Shire. This is, of course, because they don't all flower in the middle two weeks of September!

For the interest and enjoyment of our thousands of visitors in spring, an energetic band of volunteers goes forth into the bush, booted and spurred, armed with picking licences and secateurs to find the sometimes elusive flowers – they know exactly where a certain orchid grows and where the more unusual specimens can be found.

And so, as you enter the Ravensthorpe Hall the scent of the bush will assail you, the shelves of flowers will amaze you and the volunteers will welcome you. The wildflower shop will tempt you, magnifying glasses can be found on the shelves for looking deep into the smallest flower, and when your feet need a rest, comfortable chairs await for viewing stunning videos.

This programme lists the many other events and activities available throughout the Spring Festival; art exhibitions, photographic displays, tag along tours, guided walks, Street Parade and Country Carnival, markets and music; soup lunches and Devonshire teas, quilt display and so much more.

A self drive brochure identifies several routes for viewing wildflowers, including the Ravensthorpe Range & the world heritage listed Fitzgerald River NP which falls within the Fitzgerald Biosphere. The region is considered a biodiversity hotspot but you will find a hotspot within a hotspot within a hotspot! Please ask our knowledgeable Coordinator, Sue, or any of the Hosts in red shirts, for further information.

Welcome to the Ravensthorpe Wildflower Show!

Sue Leighton - Coordinator/ Horticulturalist

Ask Sue and she will tell you anything you want to know! Our energetic and knowledgeable Coordinator will be manning the Information Desk at the Show (most days). Other days she will be dashing about organising Walks with the Rangers, talking to visitors in the street and generally welcoming and informing. Qualified Horticulturist, garden designer, advisor & creative display person, Sue has been in the industry for more than 35 years - just ask for Sue!

Angus Stewart is an Australian horticulturist, author and TV presenter on Gardening Australia. He is especially interested in Australian Native Plants, and has been heavily involved in breeding Kangaroo paws. He has written several books on gardening, including “Gardening on the Wild Side” and “Let’s Propagate!”

Angus guides Wildflower tours in and around Australia and the Ravensthorpe Wildflower Show is always on his itinerary. He is a guest speaker at our Gala Closing Event.

Megan Hodgson - Artist, will run watercolour workshops

Megan lives in Margaret River, WA. In 2016 she painted a mural at the BP Roadhouse in Ravensthorpe and her fascination and love of the flora of the Fitzgerald National Park began.

Megan trained as a printmaker at the Claremont School of Art, & later studied painting and fabrics at Edith Cowan University. Her work has been exhibited in Perth and Sydney and is in many private collections including the Bunnings and Wesfarmers collection.

Sue MacDougall - Sue has been answering gardening questions for over 25 years on 882 6PR and can be heard every weekend inspiring both gardeners and self-confessed ‘non gardeners’ alike. She also writes for local and national gardening magazines and web-sites. Sue has been involved in presenting TV stories for both national and local TV stations and is currently the gardening presenter for Channel 7’s Today Tonight.

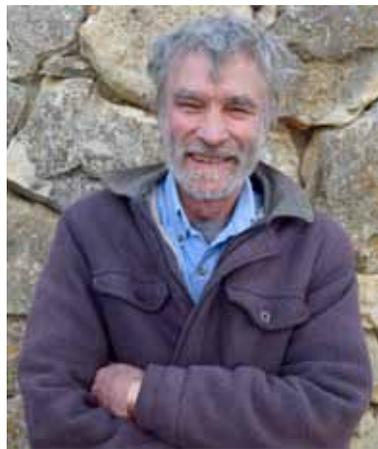

Her love of our unique flora has been a lifelong passion. Growing up in Hollands Rock, north east of the Pingrup area and on the rabbit proof fence east of Lake King, she was lucky enough to immerse herself in the changing colours of the Western Australian landscape. Her mantra is ‘just get it done.’

Sue also writes regular gardening columns for magazines, websites and newsletters, and runs gardening workshops. Join Sue at the official opening, Walks, Talks & Orchid hunt.

Andy Chapman - Zoologist/Biologist lives on the edge of the Fitzgerald River National Park. In 1979 he carried out a biological survey in the Ravensthorpe region for the WA Museum. He undertook a fauna survey of the Ravensthorpe Range and found the, thought to be extinct, heath mouse. In the 80s he was employed to do a fauna survey in the FRNP where a host of rare and threatened animals were found.

Andy knows the FRNP and the Ravensthorpe Range intimately and will guide visitors through this unique area during the Ravensthorpe Wildflower Show.

For bookings, see Nature Walk details.

John Tucker Naturalist - Photographer

John is one of our local naturalist and conservationist with a passion in botanical & ornithological subjects. John specialises in local orchids and enjoys nothing more than finding and identifying these species. Ornithologically John loves all birds, however his big love is migratory waders. He is a contributor to Birds Australia and is a member of the Ravensthorpe Wildflower Show Committee.

John will guide two tag-along tours.

Luke Sweedman, guest speaker at the closing event, has been the seed collector in Kings Park for 28 years. Since 1990 Luke has collected over 9,350 plants in WA, Eucalyptus sweedmaniana, from Cape Arid, is named after him.

In 2001, Kings Park was a foundation partner in the Millennium Seedbank Project in the UK which is striving to provide ex situ conservation for the world's wild plant species. Luke is the 2nd most prolific collector for the project with 1,350 of his collections in the Seedbank at Kew. As a trainer for the Millennium Seedbank he has delivered training programs in Kenya, Tanzania and Portugal as well as help set up seed facilities in Saudi Arabia.

The small mallet eucalypt Eucalyptus mcquoidii is named after him. With colleague Professor Steve Hopper, he described Eucalyptus brandiana - found only in the Fitzgerald River NP - and Eucalyptus sweetmaniana from Cape Arid.

Nathan's recent work includes the ecology and sustainable management of vegetation communities at Bremer Bay. He wrote "Lifting the bonnet on Wheatbelt Woodlands", a guide to the connection between landscape and vegetation in southwest Australia.

Driving Around

Your safety on our roads is our concern. When stopping to view flowers please remain aware of road safety and other road users.

Take care on gravel roads and drive to the conditions.

Pay attention to the local fauna, they tend to use the roads in an unsafe manner!

Don't miss
the Fitzgerald River National Park!

Mud Sticks

Dieback (Phytophthora dieback) is a disease that presents a very real threat to our native species. A fungus that exists in mud and soil, it affects more than 40 per cent of native plant species and has the ability to forever alter some of our bushland by killing off susceptible species. There is no known cure for this disease, which is most rapidly spread through human activity. You can help to prevent the spread of it by making sure you:

- Use cleaning stations to washdown your vehicles before entry to dieback free areas;
- Always stay on roads and tracks;
- Clean or sterilise your footwear before entering dieback free areas;
- Stay out of quarantined areas;
- Do not enter disease risk areas during, or for three days after, rain;
- Making sure you do not move soil or plant material from infected areas; and
- Reading and complying with information signs
